Vision for Cycling in London includes 20mph Limits

Launched 7 March, Safer Streets 20mph policies:

- Acknowledgement that 20mph speed limits improve the safety of both cyclists and pedestrians.
- Recognition of the benefits of lower speed limits on the TLRN (the TfL controlled roads – Red Routes) in terms of improving the safety and liveability of town centres. TfL are now considering 20mph for some arterials
- Preparedness to look at the use of 20mph limits on the TLRN and proposed 20mph limits in locations where cycle improvements are planned (eg in Camberwell, New Cross and Waterloo).
- Supporting the installation of 20mph zones and limits on borough roads.

This genuinely ambitious plan to raise London's cycling levels has 20mph limits as a core component.

Recent Briefings (all downloadable from www.20splentyforus.org.uk/briefings.htm)

Police and Road Danger - Part of the Solution or Part of the Problem?	ACPO have always been "soft" on the policing of 20mph limits. Its time for them recognise that their lack of commitment encourages speeding. They need to be "part of the solution"!

Raising Compliance and the role of enforcement	20mph limits are much more than mere "Signs on Sticks", See how compliance is a factor of multi-agency involvement.
Councils can afford 20mph limits	Installing 20 mph limits is primarily a capital spend and has little bearing on council services or jobs. 20 mph limits are an affordable, best value policy with exceptional rates of return.
Our guide to road casualty mapping	We show you how to get on-line casualty information for your street or area.
Support for 20mph limits is strong &amp; rising	We present the feedback from around the country on both pre- and post- implementation support from communities for 20mph limits.
